Mice & Rats

Your local councillors have recently been made aware of the problems that many of you in Blashford Tower have been experiencing with rodents in the building. The councillors visited and looked at the problems with the help of an experienced council pest control operative and also had professional building advice.

Once in the building, it is fairly easy for the mice to move about in services spaces. The obvious solutions are to stop-up the entry points and remove as many sources of attraction for these pests. To that end your councillors have arranged for contractors to block up the various holes we noticed.

With Camden Council pest control and housing services we have also initiated a programme to deal with some of the potential source areas attractive to mice and rats, such as the old and un-used storage cupboards at the lower level beside the tower.

Steve, who is an architect, is assessing the possible entry points with Leila.

We have also asked that every effort is made to make sure the bins outside the building are kept with their lids closed. You can all help with this.

If you notice any signs of mice in your property, please contact pest control on 020 79744444 or use the form on the Council website www.camden.gov.uk
